Definition

The Telecommunications Consumer Protection (TCP) Code defines Financial Hardship as a situation where:

- A customer is unable to discharge the financial obligations owed by the customer under their customer contract or otherwise discharge the financial obligations owed by the customer to a supplier, due to illness, family violence, unemployment or other reasonable cause.
- The customer believes that they are able to discharge those obligations if the relevant payment arrangements or other arrangements relating to the supply of telecommunications products by the supplier to the customer are changed.
- The customer is experiencing entrenched financial hardship due to ongoing physical, mental, economic or cultural barriers that limit their ability to manage their financial commitments.

Causes of Financial Hardship

There are many reasons for Financial Hardship. If you're unsure if your circumstances meet the definition of Financial Hardship, please contact numobile directly. Some common situations are:

- Loss of employment
- Reduction of income
